Historiography Discussion

 Published

 Edit

In groups of five (preassigned randomly), the last two sessions of class will feature a discussion on how the American history books covered fit together in an overall historiography. A member in the group will take notes of the discussions and publish them here on this assignment page. In total the notes should be about 2-4 pages. If your group wants to take notes collectively, that is more than fine so long as one person submits them.
